This book is one of three produced by semesters 3/4 and 5/6 students of IULI over the course of one year (2019-2020). The idea came from students. The normal English syllabus covers writing and presentation skills, in particular, but a number of students were already proficient in those skills and ready for a real challenge. Some of them are proved to win writing competitions for university students.

This 1st book is consists of four creative non-fiction essays, discussing English literature, literary journalism, and science. In this book, the students show their proficiency in writing and developing narratives. Their exploration of the topics is deep and highly remarkable.
